NIGHT IN TIMES SQUARE

and the site of the United States Naval Academy. At the Naval Academy we visit the Paul Jones Memorial Chapel and Bancroft Hall. After a delightful afternoon, motors take us direct to Baltimore, where our group will divide, one group being transferred direct to the B. and O. Railroad, Camden Street Station, enroute Philadelphia and Atlantic City, the other group transferred to the steamer enroute Norfolk and Virginia, and will follow the schedule as shown below:

We board our train and leave Baltimore at 5:38 P. M. Shortly after, we have dinner in the dining car. After about an hour's ride, we arrive in Philadelphia where our motor coaches are waiting to take us direct to Atlantic City and the Traymore Hotel. The evening will be open to enjoy the many pastimes of this delightful resort.

TUESDAY — ATLANTIC CITY BOARDWALK

Today is yours to enjoy the most fashionable resort hotel in Atlantic City. All meals will be served in the Traymore's luxurious dining room with the entire day free to partake of the many interesting diversions offered. The Traymore boasts of one of the finest private beaches on the North Atlantic seaboard and it is yours to enjoy, surf bathing, sun basking and other beach activities. You may also take an Afromobile ride along the Boardwalk or shop in the fascinating gift shops. After dinner, the evening may be spent viewing the awe-inspiring sights along the Boardwalk, seven miles long, high above the beach like a ship-deck promenade. To really see Atlantic City, one must view the famous Boardwalk and foaming surf

We arrive at the dock and transfer to the steamer about 6:00 P. M. State-rooms will be assigned immediately, after which we proceed to the dining room for dinner. This evening you cruise on historic Chesapeake Bay. You can go out-deck and enjoy the cooling breezes or partake of other steamer diversions.

TUESDAY—VIRGINIA WILLIAMSBURG

After an early breakfast, we arrive Norfolk. Leaving our luggage in our state-rooms, motors take us for a delightful trip to Williamsburg and Colonial Virginia. Enroute, we make a brief stop at Maritime Museum, thence to Williamsburg going direct to the Lodge where we have an hour to relax prior to luncheon. We then visit some of the famous places recently restored by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., such as, Governor's Palace, Raleigh Tavern and the Capitol, with our final stop at William and Mary College. You have time to explore some of the other buildings, if you desire, returning to the Lodge not later than 5:00 P. M. when we board motors for a leisurely trip back to Old Point Comfort. On the way you will view many historic homes, relics, battlefields and the ramparts of "Old Fort Monroe." Our steamer departs at 7:30 P. M., dinner in the dining room with another night of fun aboard ship.

WEDNESDAY—ENROUTE NEW YORK CITY

Up for an early breakfast with luggage packed ready to leave by motor at 8:30 A. M. for Philadelphia. On entering Philadelphia we will pass the Betsy Ross House, recently damaged by fire and the Independence Hall, where a brief stop will be made. We then continue to the station, boarding the NATIONAL LIMITED for New York.

Climaxing our cruise on the Chesapeake Bay to Colonial Virginia, we arrive in Baltimore this morning. We transfer immediately to the B. and O. NATIONAL LIMITED enroute New York. We have breakfast in the dining car. About an hour later, we arrive at Philadelphia where we are rejoined by the Atlantic City group.

After an extremely interesting ride through industrial America, we arrive at Jersey City where waiting motors transfer us by ferry across the harbor. Our entrance to New York affords us one of the most outstanding views of the world's greatest metropolis, with Ellis Island and the Statue of Liberty on our right and towering skyscrapers on our left, truly a spectacle to behold. After docking, motors take us direct to the Pennsylvania Hotel, one of New York's newer and more modern hotels (Statler operated). The afternoon will be open to acquaint ourselves with this mighty city and to visit the world's shopping center. Dinner will be served at the Pennsylvania Hotel.

THURSDAY — NEW YORK — "LEON AND EDDIES"

"East side, west side, all around the town,"—that's where we go today. Today you are going to see and know New York from one end to the other, from early morn 'till late night. After breakfast we board motors for a complete tour of Upper and Lower New York. Fifth Avenue with its internationally famous shops . . . Millionaire's Row . . . St. Patrick's Cathedral . . . Metropolitan Art Museum . . . Central Park . . . Harlem . . . Columbia University . . . Cathedral of St. John the Divine . . . Grant's Tomb and Riverside Drive. Continuing, we visit The Little Church Around the Corner . . . Wall Street, the "Financial Canyon" of the world. Thence, to the Ghetto and the Bowery and their teeming masses of humanity. Our motors will return us to the Empire State Building where those desiring may ascend to the Observation Tower. Here one may view the fascinating panorama

Go East this summer! Travel in a convenient and comfortable manner . . . air conditioned trains . . . modern, streamlined motor coaches, delicious meals . . . deluxe hotels . . . with all accommodations assured in advance . . . an escort constantly alert in handling every detail . . . no fussing over tickets, luggage, transfers, etc.

Those who are familiar with my past tours to the east, will readily recognize this as a masterpiece of planning in seeing and doing things. No stone has been left unturned, in my efforts to present to you this delightful eastern holiday. While I have planned the tours to use coach transportation, I have prevailed upon the railroads to reserve streamlined, air-conditioned, reclining chair cars, which assure my guests a comfortable journey. Unlike ordinary chair car travel in which one is compelled to mingle with all types, my guests have reserved cars for their exclusive use. By confining reservations to our own offices and our selected agents, who are thoroughly familiar with our policies, we are able to select congenial traveling companions.

This tour has been planned to take you over the territory in a most befitting manner, allowing ample time in each city to visit the most important points of interest with sufficient time for your own diversions. Sightseeing of the Nation's Capitol and public buildings and a visit to Mount Vernon and Tomb of the Unknown Soldier are some of the places of interest in Washington, D. C., topped off with a visit to Annapolis, and the United States Naval Academy. A two day cruise down Chesapeake Bay to Colonial Virginia visiting Jamestown, Yorktown and Williamsburg is a featured attraction. Another outstanding feature which is an option with this trip is a sidetrip from Philadelphia to Atlantic City. My guests have an opportunity to select either the trip down Chesapeake Bay to Old Virginia or the trip from Philadelphia to Atlantic City, the east coast's most popular seashore resort. These tours are identical in cost. If you have never had an opportunity to swim in the ocean or play on the seashore, here is a thrill that can now be experienced. Your home while in Atlantic City will be the Traymore. In keeping with the Kirkland tradition of always selecting the finest hotels, the world-famous Traymore Hotel has been selected for my Eastern guests. Thence, to New York where four days are spent exploring upper and lower New York, Radio City, Rockefeller Center, the Great White Way, Hudson River, West Point and participating in New York's famous night life. The return from New York is made via the New York Central Railroad with an optional side trip to Niagara Falls where a few hours may be spent thrilling to the sight that has impressed millions.

In travel there is a certain standard of comfort and pleasure which, according to my ideals, is irreducible. My tours are planned in accordance with this standard and not to conform to a fixed price. This policy, together with our reputation of catering to a choice clientele has enabled us to secure accommodations at the luxurious Mayflower Hotel in Washington, the Palatial Traymore in Atlantic City and the splendid Pennsylvania Hotel in New York.

I trust that your close perusal of this itinerary will convince you that we have exploited every channel to offer you a wonderful vacation.
